GEORGE WASHINGTON, 22; RANDOLPH-MACON, 0.

Marked Improvement Displayed By Team Over Previous Exhibitions. Sutton's Brilliant Playing.

Our boys kept up the good work Saturday when Randolph-Macon bit the dust in a most decisive manner. West Virginia was scheduled for November 3d, but Manager "Happy" Wilson decided to cancel and take on the Ashlanders instead, with the above mentioned result. The Orange and Black played a hard game from start to finish, but were simply outclassed. A more ideal day from the spectators' viewpoint could not have been wished, and the largest crowd that Van Ness Park has seen for some time had assembled when the dogs of war were loosed.

Randolph-Macon kicked off to us and a march toward the line started which resulted in the first touchdown after 5 minutes of play, Steenerson, Sommers, Beard and Sutton gaining consistently. Goal was missed.

Sutton kicked to the enemy, but our line and ends were impregnable, and the oval was soon in our possession again. After carrying it to within striking distance Sutton tried a field goal but missed, and the Ashlanders punted out from the 25-yard line and recovered when we fumbled.

It was just like striving against fate, however, to try to gain ground through or around our huskies, so Harlan punted again and the band struck up once more. Sutton and Lacarioni carried it to the 15-yard line and then Sommers got away for the second score. "Steenie" kicked goal. George Washington, 11; Randolph-Macon, 0. The half ended without further scoring.

The Buff and Blue kicked to the visitors at the start of the second session and the same old story was retold. Continued employment of the forward pass in this half netted us big gains, and Gunning finally picked up the pig-skin on a blocked kick and carried it over. "Steenie" missed goal. George Washington, 16; Randolph-Macon, 0. One more score and our greedy warriors were satisfied. "Macaroni" received their kick off and started the dance again, and not long afterwards another score had been registered. Sutton tried his foot at kicking goal and the final score was 22 to 0.

Notes of the Game.

Well, we must acknowledge that the rooting improved somewhat, but is not yet entirely satisfactory. What is needed is concerted action. The right spirit may be there, but it is shown much better when a big bunch of men get together and yell, than when the firing is scattered, so to speak. If two or three public-spirited individuals who are accustomed to be present at the games would overcome their bash-

Department of Medicine Number of The George Washington University Bulletin.

The October Number of the George Washington University Bulletin, issued a few days ago, is devoted to the Department of Medicine, and contains a number of scientific papers by members of the Faculty, and other information of great interest to the medical profession. The first paper is Dr. Carl Beck's address on "The Influence of American Surgery in Europe," delivered at the Fall Convocation of the University. Then follow a series of papers by Drs. Munroe, Carr, Bovée, Claytor, Grasty, Howard, Smith and Hooe, read before the University Medical Society at its monthly meetings. A paper of great public interest is that by Dr. H. H. Donally on "The Relation of the Members of the Faculty of the George Washington University to Yellow Fever Investigations," in which the author tells the story of the early investigations of Gen. Sternberg, now Professor of Preventive Medicine, and of the more recent Yellow Fever Commission, which determined that the mosquito was the real source of the disease, of which Major Walter Reed and Dr. James Carroll were members. Major Reed was formerly and Dr. Carroll is now, the Professor of Bacteriology in the Medical Faculty. The discovery was made through Dr. Carroll's self-sacrificing and heroic act in submitting himself to the bite of an infected mosquito.

The number contains also a series of scientific notes bearing on investigations and researches being made by Drs. King, Acker, Shute, Ruffin, Richardson, Bovée, Carroll, Hagner and Nichols, announcements of recent appointments and miscellaneous items of University interest. The number appeared under the supervision of the Board of University Publications, of which Professor Mitchell Carroll is chairman.

Washington and Lee Game.

To avoid a conflict with the Virginia-Georgetown game and to give all a chance to see both games, a change has been made in the date of the Washington and Lee game, which will now be played to-morrow, Friday. This is the best game to get a line on the Thanksgiving contest, inasmuch as Georgetown defeated W. & L. by the close score of 6 to 5. It should be the best game on the home grounds to date. However, to get the date changed, the management had to guarantee a larger sum, so that it is necessary from a financial consideration that as large a crowd as possible be present.

Intercollegiate Debating.

The debate with the University of Cincinnati has been set for March 1. The question will probably be received within a week, so that the preliminaries will be held about the 12th or 13th. The team will go to Cincinnati this year and all the expenses will be borne by that University.

No debate was arranged with Johns Hopkins, or Brown, as desired, but negotiations are being had with Georgetown and North Carolina.

The University of Virginia has raised the $500,000 that was the condition of Carnegie's offer of a like amount, so that she now will have an additional endowment of one million.

At Delaware, Ohio, the co-eds of the university, 500 in number, have announced that they will accept no more dates for football this season. They figure that more boys and girls will attend the games and that some of the men who are accustomed to grace the bleachers will go out and try to win laurels on the field.

Dental.

Professor Thompson's talk at the commencement of the session advising the students to wear an operating coat, preferably white, while operating in the Infirmary, has evidently had its effect. It certainly creates a good impression upon the patient when the student wears a clean white operating coat, and aside from the hygienic reasons, has another good effect in that it produces a business-like air which is not to be had from the ordinary "Sunday suit" which some of the boys are wont to wear occasionally.

While the white coats are numerous this year, the style of the coats worn are still more numerous, showing that the boys have original ideas as to dress. Have you noticed that open-faced long-cut white coat that a prominent member of the senior class is wearing this year? The fact that the gentleman in question is a tailor during his spare hours would lead one to suspect that he might have designs in forcing a style of operating coat which is very dangerously near the Tuxedo cut variety. If it should ever come to be popular for dentists to wear white coats cut in the Tuxedo style, might we not reasonably expect to see in the near future the regulation evening dress coat made of white material adorning a dentist at the chair? Just imagine, if you can, a dentist, working on you in the chair, adorned in a white coat cut in the evening dress suit style!

One very encouraging feature of the laboratory work this year is in the close attention the boys are receiving from the demonstrators. Dr. Bovee sticks right with the senior class up to the hour of closing the laboratory and the boys have no kick coming for want of instruction.

What's the matter with the Freshman class this year? They seem to be rather slow in getting together and electing their class officers for the year.

Conquest Denied.

With a melancholy sigh
Beauty wiped her glistening eye
As she stood sublimely poised
O'er a crystal pond, which ncised
From its depths, the fishes' praise,
Madly circling in a craze.
At her feet she saw them there
Saw her shape reflected bare
And she sighed anew her woe
That only fish might see her so.
—Jack Terrier.

An effort is being made at Harvard to get more men to come out for the association football team.

Law Notes.

The sympathy of the whole University and particularly of the Law Department is extended to Dean Vance for the death of his father during the past week. The Junior class, at a special meeting, passed resolutions expressing such sympathy.

During the week past the Junior Class had a favor conferred upon them in the person of Prof. James Brown Scott, who taught them Suretyship for one hour. The pleasure was mutual and all expressed the hope that the Professor "with the liquid smile" would be able to arrange a course for the second year class during the next semester.

The much-talked of, long-hoped for smoker of the Junior Class will be held, rain or shine, at Rauscher's, November tenth. This is to all whom it may concern—even the Freshman Class, if they can muster a squad for the occasion.

Nominations were held Monday evening for the officers of the Junior Class but election will not be held until November 12th.

The Senior Class began the election of class officers last week, but elected only one official at that time, so long-drawn out and close was the election. When Mr. Gerry called the class to order and announced that nominations for class president were in order, a stillness came over the class, broken finally by the voice of Mr. Agnew, who, in well-chosen words, nominated Mr. E. J. Lundy, who has been conspicuous in debating during the past two years. Mr. Peake placed before the class the name of Mr. Manning, as a man of poise and self-possession. Mr. Stadden, with bright smiles of good things to come, said that Mr. Smith was the man for the place and put him in the running. Mr. Hoover, not to be outdone by his "pal," thought that the "only licensed lawyer" of the class was by long odds the winner and exhibited to the expectant the name of Mr. Gammon. At the first two or three ballots it was seen that the class would have Lundy or Smith, or nobody, so the others gladly withdrew and left these two to fight it out. The issue was even more uncertain and close than the Hearst-Hughes election, and neck and neck they ran till the last vote was counted, when it was found that Lundy had bagged 37 and Smith 36. So Mr. E. J. Lundy, of Arkansas, will lead Law '07 in all its functions. The other officers will be elected to-day, Thursday.

Medical.

The Medical Dispensary is now in full sway under the charge of Dr. Lindsay. The senior class is divided into sections, so that the work will be more effective and patients given better service. A portion of the incoming section is put in charge of writing family histories and conditions leading up to the present illness, and making chemical examinations of blood, sputum, etc.

Another portion of the section takes charge of the physical examination of the patients, detecting any abnormality of the body. This section is under the closest scrutiny of doctors of ability and undisputed reputation.

This is where the student gets his first real medical work. When he has finished with the examination and made the diagnosis, if it is confirmed by the physician in charge, he is allowed to suggest the treatment to be given, explaining the physiological action of each drug prescribed. If correct, the prescription is handed over to the pharmacist.

The patient reports at frequent intervals for the students to ascertain the effect of the treatment.

This is giving excellent results and the systematic methods now employed will mean a great deal to the student when he reaches actual practice.

Mr. R. D. Wolf, who has been ill at the hospital for several weeks with typhoid fever has suffered a relapse, but at this time is making satisfactory progress.

The second regular meeting of the third year class was held last Saturday evening. It was decided to give a class dance about November 23d, and the committee in charge promise to make it the "swellest" function of the year. A paper was read by Mr. F. S. Avery on "The Trial of the Young Physician." The next paper will be presented by Mr. Frank Brown, on the first Saturday evening in December.

Prof.—"Of what is that sinking sensation a sign"

Freshy—"Of dropsy, sir."

Some one with the instincts of an assassin placed an infernal machine in the bed of Mr. John Sherwood. Through some fortunate misconception the powder failed to ignite, but some fluid resembling H₂O, which seemed to be the main feature of the contrivance, escaped, giving Mr. S the impression that he was at the seashore. His escape was miraculous.

The Junior class has been re-enforced this year by two acquisitions from the West, Mr. J. W. Hopkins, of Minnesota, and Mr. Riley Russell, of Illinois. Both gentlemen commenced their medical work at the American Medical Missionary School, of Battle Creek, Michigan. Mr. Hopkins, however, was pursuing the course at Cooper Medical College, of San Francisco, Cal., just prior to coming to Washington. These men are preparing for medical missionary work abroad and found it would be necessary for them to hold a degree from some school recognized in the "Old Country." George Washington University was selected because of its high international standing.

A member of the Senior class (Trachelorrhaphy, for short), had a very difficult and painful operation for "flat-foot" performed by Dr. Shands, in the presence of his classmates. The patient is doing well.

Last Saturday night the Senior class attended an autopsy at Garfield Hospital, performed by Dr. Wilkinson. The case was very interesting as nearly every organ in the body was diseased. The students had occasion to recall their two years' work in anatomy.

Dramatic Club.

With its meeting last Monday evening, the Dramatic Club began active preparations for the presentation of "Between the Acts," a three-act comedy, by Benjamin L. C. Griffith. The lines were read and the play thoroughly discussed. It is hoped to give the performance on or about December 7 in University Hall. Admission will be free.

The Honor System.

Following up the remarks in last week's issue on the "Honor System" in the University, we desire to submit the following suggestion, with the hope that they may result in some permanent organization, ready to act upon any case concerning the honor of the classes on examinations.

The Committee would be an organization of the students for their own protection. Since we have adopted and recognized the Honor System among us, to make it most effective there should be some organization to which all questions pertaining to it may be referred. A student can not conscientiously live up to the principles upon which this system is based, if he sees dishonesty on examinations and does nothing to stop it; on the contrary he would be doing not only himself, but the whole school a great injustice. But unless there is some concerted action in such matters, any student would be at a loss to know what steps to take, even if he desires to, for he wants to avoid anything like "tale-bearing." So the rooting out of the evil must be made obligatory upon the students themselves.

All cases of dishonesty would be reported to this Committee, which would secure to any student under suspicion full justice—to vindicate him, if innocent, and punish him, and protect the class, if guilty. This would be done according to the rules of the Committee.

Let each department have a committee of one or two men from each class. The several department committees could constitute a combined committee of appeals. Or each class in every department could have one representative on one committee of the whole University, there then being no appeals from this one.

The chairman of the committee should be authorized to call a meeting upon receiving from any student a written accusation against any student for using unfair means either to obtain or give help on any examination. He and the members to investigate all suspicions which may be reported.

No member of the committee should be competent to sit on any trial if he is of any relation by blood or marriage, or is a member of the same fraternity as the accused. Another could be selected to take his place temporarily.

In case of conviction the committee to make a written recommendation to the faculty of the punishment to be inflicted, the faculty having previously taken this movement toward student control under advisement and informed the students whether or not they approve it, and what stand they will take on the findings of the students.

Of course, this is merely an outline and tentative, to get the students to thinking of some such action. Let the thinking men of the University take this seriously. This is no Don Quixotic fighting of windmills, but is here put forward on account of a conversation had with some students and a member of the faculty, concerning some very dishonorable conduct last spring that was known to a number.

The HATCHET will be glad to publish any communications.

Prize Essay in Comparative Law.

Through the generosity of a friend of The George Washington University, its Faculty of Law and Jurisprudence is enabled to offer a prize of one hundred dollars each year, to be awarded to the writer of the most meritorious essay on some topic in comparative law, to be assigned each year by that Faculty.

The prize is offered in the belief that the practical benefit to be derived from a study of the systems of law prevailing in other than English-speaking countries is not sufficiently appreciated in the United States, and that such study should be more generally encouraged by American law schools.

Competition for this prize is open to all bona fide law students regularly matriculated in any of the law schools of the United States or Canada.

All essays must be submitted each year on or before March 1st, and, after being passed upon by a committee of one or more persons not connected with this University, the award will be announced on June 1st following. Essays should be sent to the Secretary of the Faculty.

The subject for the year 1906-7 is as follows:

A discussion, under English, French, and German law, of the respective rights of parties to a contract entered into under a mistaken apprehension on the part of one or both parties as to its legal effect.

The Committee of Award for the year 1906-7 will consist of John H. Wigmore, Dean of Northwestern University Law School, and Samuel Williston, Weld Professor of Law in Harvard University Law School.

Freshman Medicals.

On Saturday evening last the Sign of the Fox on Seventeenth Street was the scene of the first social gathering of the medical wearers of the green. In an atmosphere as enthusiastic as Freshmen can make it, and laden with the savory odors of pumpkin pie, mushrooms, and the blue fumes of the weed, the orators ascended to heights sublime. Mr. Harry A. Peyton acted as toastmaster. Mr. McLoone responded to the toast of "Our Class, Medical 1910"; Mr. Scanlon, "A New Era"; Mr. Tibbets, "The Medical Faculty"; Mr. Derrick, "The Outlook"; Mr. Ryan, "Our Dean"; Mr. Amoss, "Our First Faculty of Medicine"; Mr. Young, "Class Spirit"; Mr. Ross, "The Artistic Aspect of Our Profession"; Mr. Hornaday, "The Committee." Toasts were proposed in honor of Dr. Phillips, Dr. Shute and Dr. Nicholls.

It was decided that the class meet to elect permanent officers this week. The following members were present:

- Mr. J. J. McLoone, of Penna.
- Mr. H. L. Amoss, of Kentucky.
- Mr. Scanlon, of West Virginia.
- Mr. C. C. Young, of District of Columbia.
- Mr. H. A. Reyton, of Mississippi.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Sothorn and Marlowe in Repertoire.

Mr. E. H. Sothorn and Miss Julia Marlowe will not appear in Baltimore this season. The Baltimore public is therefore invited to attend the Sothorn-Marlowe performances in Washington at the Belasco Theater during the week of November 12th. The two stars will appear in three plays, all of which have proven enormous successes during their recent engagement in Philadelphia. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and at the Saturday matinee, the bill will be "Jeanne d'Arc," a new play dealing with the Maid of Orleans and written especially for the two stars by Parcy Mackaye.

Ethel Barrymore in "Alice-Sit-By-the-Fire."

Of first importance among the theatrical events of the season will be the appearance of Miss Ethel Barrymore at the National Theater on Monday, November 12th, in J. M. Barrie's comedy, "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," which was the notable success of the past season in New York.

Dallas Welford in "Mr. Hopkinson."

R. C. Carton's clever three-act farce, "Mr. Hopkinson," which has been described by dramatic writers as the best farce that ever came to America from England, will have its first engagement on Monday, November 12.

The Famous Jersey Lily.

Mrs. Langtry, the famous actress and English beauty, will be the supreme attraction at Chase's next week, November 12th, appearing in "Between Nightfall and the Light." Other great offerings will include the Uessem's paradoxical acrobatic celebrities; Elizabeth M. Murray, psalmist; Les Durand, trio, etc. The advance sale opens to-morrow.

Beulah Poynter in "Lena Rivers."

An innovation in comedy drama will reach local theater-goers when "Lena Rivers" is produced here. Delightfully told, with a flavor of the metropolis which is quickly recognized, the play has made an instant hit in every city where the excellent company has presented it, society turning out in force and setting its seal of approval upon the wholesome fun provided. "Lena Rivers" will be the offering at the Majestic, week of November 12th.

Robert Baxter Pharr.

There is not one in the University that will not be grieved to learn of the death, in July, of Robert Baxter Pharr, who received his degree from the Law School in 1905. Every one knows him as one who contributed so materially to our victory over Georgetown in the debate last year. The decision was unanimous in our favor and it was the consensus of opinion that Pharr's speech won the debate. He was a member of the Needham Debating Society and won first honors in the inter-society debate. He also ranked high in class. But it was for his noble character that those who knew him well appreciated him most. He quickly won the reputation of a man of sterling qualities and the loftiest ideals and ambitions. He was one of the most generous, companionable men in his class and was universally liked by everyone who came in contact with him. The University can ill afford to lose such men as he was and with such promise of the future. The University sympathizes with his parents on the loss of such a son.

Below is an extract from a memorial presented to the Charlotte bar:

"Mr. Pharr was prepared for college as a boy in the common schools of Mecklenburg county, and later entered Erskine College, S. C., where he in 1901 graduated with honors. In 1903 he became private secretary to Hon. E. Y. Webb, member of Congress from the ninth congressional district, and he filled his position to the entire satisfaction of that distinguished member of Congress. He afterwards entered George Washington University Law School, at Washington, and graduated with distinction from this institution in 1905, winning a medal offered for the best debater in the University. Immediately after his graduation from the law school, he took a position as assistant in the law office of Chas. W. Tillet, of the Charlotte bar. At the beginning of the fall term, 1905, of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, he received his license to practice law, and a short time thereafter formed a partnership with Mr. F. M. Redd, which continued up to the time of his death. This law firm, although in existence for such a short while, had already secured a fair share of the law business of the community and of the county, and was rapidly winning its place among the foremost of the young law firms of the State.

"His young manhood was full of lofty ideals and noble purposes. His soul was filled with a strong and abiding ambition to attain the highest measure of success; and yet he knew the temptations of an over-weening ambition, and he was careful not to overstep the bounds of right doing or of professional propriety in his efforts to gain business, or to fulfill his life's desire. He had a clear and discriminating mind which, next to moral character, is the most important and necessary factor in the make-up of the highest type of lawyer. His dealings with his brethren of the bar were marked at all times by that deference and consideration which brought about such cordial relations that as a rule exist among members of the legal profession, and which have constituted the highest glory of that noble vocation.

"Diligent in business, of strictest integrity, of gentle birth, courteous and deferential to others, of discriminating mind, full of high and noble ambitions, all these traits of character and disposition so rarely blended as they were in Robert Baxter Pharr combined to make of him a man that not only the bar of Charlotte, but the bar of the whole State of North Carolina, can ill afford to lose."

ful timidity, and lead the rest, we would have reason to rejoice. Each class might appoint one of its number to officiate in this capacity. We have three big games coming on and now is the time to prepare for them, so get together boys without further delay.

The team's play was by far the best seen on the home grounds this season. Team work was in evidence during the entire contest, and that wrangling, which has been fatal hitherto, and which would have proved our Waterloo if allowed to continue, this season seems to have disappeared. In previous seasons men have looked at the faults of their fellow players rather than their good points. But the wind seems to have veered at last, and from now on we may expect "happenings."

Sutton and Steenerson pulled off the most sensational runs of the day. Both continually circled the Ashlanders' ends for long gains. Sutton is some quarter, too.

Beard's playing, while not so showy as that of the two preceding, was of top-notch variety and straight to the point. It was his interference which enabled Sutton to get away from a great many prospective tacklers.

"Gibbie" played a great game and looked just as happy as ever.

Randolph-Macon secured one first down. That was made on a fake formation.

The coach told Babcock and Berryman to warm up before they went into the game in the second half. "Babbie" put his head on "Berry's" shoulder and they were soon all "het up."

"Blondy" Moore spent the evening vainly searching for three strands of hair which an unkind opponent butted off his head. Hard luck "Reds."

Gunning got one touch-down all by himself. He broke through, blocked the kick, and picking up the ball, ran for a touch-down.

Lorando did some of the most effective work of the game in getting in behind the enemy's line and getting the runner before he could get started.

Although Boarman, at center, occupies a place that is usually hid from the spectator's eye, yet any weakness in this position would be easily noticed and very demoralizing to the whole team. No position has been better filled than has his position this season; his passing is sure and no opposing center gets through.

We are sorry that Harris met with an accident. He was a fearless player and was in every play. His absence was felt.

Here's a little song that one of our poetic buds in the architectural school has composed. It's a good one and everybody should learn it. Tune, "So Long, Mary":

"So long Georgetown, we really hate to see you go,

So long Georgetown, how we hate to beat you so.

We are ready for you Georgetown, Let her go;

So long Georgetown, Wake up, you're a bit too slow."

Other verses will be contributed by the same author.

Scrubs.

The "hard luck Scrubs" got beat again last Friday by Tech. High School, though they again outplayed their opponents except for five minutes in the first half, when Thrall, Tech's full back got away twice in succession for 60-yard runs, both times scoring. Several times our boys got within striking distance but could not score. Gable, Fields and Babcock played good games for us, while Thrall easily excelled for the Manual trainers.

Graduate Studies.

Mr. August Friedrich Wilhelm Edler, who is registered this year for his A. M. degree, is taking Germanics for his major and Philosophy and Chemical Archaeology for his minors. Mr. Edler, who graduated this last June, winning an A. B. degree from our University, is the Assistant Chancellor at the German Embassy in this city. Mr. Edler started his college education in one of the Universities in Germany but having been sent to this country he selected this University in which to complete his education.

Faculty.

There is one appointment in the Columbian College which has not been announced. This is the appointment of Mr. Albert G. Ross, A. M., Instructor of Mathematics. Mr. Ross was recently Professor of Mathematics at Handin College, Mexico, Missouri. Mr. Ross is to be congratulated upon the excellent work that he is doing in the University.

The registrar and his force of assistants at Minnesota are now working to perfect a scheme of registration by mail, and by next fall it will be completed which will do away with long lines of waiting students and the personal interview with the registrar.

Junior Club.

A "real sure 'nuf" Hallowe'en party was the occasion of the first meeting of the Junior Club (formerly the Sophomore Club) Wednesday, October 31, at the home of Miss Swartwout. Whole companies of ghosts and witches flitted through the house and the nearby park, much to the terror of certain dark-skinned Ethiopie maidens, who chanced to be passing by. All of the old Hallowe'en games were played and a good many new ones. "Sugar and Salt," a comedy in two acts, was presented with great effect.

Columbian College.

The Freshmen inaugurated the social season in the College with their dance on the evening of the second of November. The dance was a success in every way and great credit is due to the Dance Committee for the way things were carried through.

All afternoon on the auspicious day excited Freshmen were to be seen running here and there squeezing lemons, decorating the electric lights with real tissue paper, waxing floors and incidentally, keeping an eye on the Sophs.

The dance began at half past eight sharp, and from then until 12 o'clock the lower floor of the College was a mass of pretty co-eds, Freshies proud in their full dress suits, and dignified upper classmen.

The committee was much perturbed over the disappearance of all the cakes and the non-appearance of the man with the key to the place, where the punch was kept. Finally, the man with the key arriving, the punch was produced, and was pronounced "dee-licious" by all present except the girls, while a hard worked Freshman was sent scurrying off for more cakes.

With these exceptions no further accident occurred during the evening, everything going along smoothly.

The library and hall were decorated with palms and autumn leaves, and the bulletin boards concealed by red and black tissue paper, the class colors. In the library hung the class flag, the gift of Miss Bracket, surmounted by the class motto: Venimus, Vidimus, Vicimus. In the hall, between the libraries, hung the University flag, the gift of Miss Baker.

West Hall was also bedecked with palms.

The committee in charge consisted of the following: Mr. Smith, Chairman; Mr. Johnson, Mr. Gillespie, Mr. Clark, Miss Bracket, Miss Baker, and Miss Alexander.

Among those present were Prof. and Mrs. Hodgkins, Prof. and Mrs. Wilbur, Dr. and Mrs. Day, Miss Ellis, and Prof. Henning.
